DESCRIPTION:

Packaging Speaks Green is an international forum whose intent is to share culture of sustainability and circular economy in the packaging supply chain.

Panels, debates and case histories with prestigious opinion leaders, industry stakeholders and institutional spoke persons will characterize a four-day event that aims to provide new tools and methods for the design, use, recycling and reuse of sustainable packaging.

The event will start with a plenary session on may 3rd, followed by different sessions focused on pharma, beauty & chemicals, plastics & recycling and food & beverage.

The conference will be held in conjunction with IPACK-IMA, the international exhibition devoted to processing and packaging technologies and GREEN PLAST, which focuses on the plastics and rubber industry. PACKAGING SPEAKS GREEN is organized by Packmedia and sponsored by AMAPLAST (Italian plastics and rubber processing machinery and moulds manufacturers' Association) and UCIMA (Italian Automatic Packaging Machine Manufacturers' Association).
